Choosing a Therapist

Steps to consider in finding a therapist:

- Start with an initial consultation at CAPS. Their services are provided at no cost to students and have therapists that specialize in different student mental health related concerns.
- Ask your physician or other healthcare provider for a referral
- Contact your insurance provider for a list of therapists covered by your insurance plan
- Inquire at University Psychological Clinic or the UM Depression Center
- Call your local or state psychological association for a list of trained therapists
- Ask a family member or friend for a recommendation
- Contact the mental health center in your community

What to consider when evaluating a potential therapist:

Credentials

Highly qualified therapists can come from a variety of educational backgrounds, including psychiatrists, psychologists, licensed master social workers (LMSWs), and licensed counselors. Inquire about your potential therapist’s education, training and experience.

Level of personal comfort

Finding a therapist with whom you can be comfortable is very important. Don’t hesitate to interview possible candidates by phone or in person before making your selection.

Questions to ask:

- How many years have you been practicing therapy?
• I have been feeling (anxious, depressed, etc.) and I’m having problems with (my job, my marriage, eating, sleeping, etc.). What experience do you have helping people with these types of problems?
• What are your areas of expertise-for example, working with children, couples, families?
• What kinds of treatments do you use?
• Have these approaches been effective for the kinds of problems/issues I’ve described to you?
• How long are your average sessions? (30 minutes? 45 minutes? One hour?)
